

My Thesis

So you've done some research, you know some important information about your topic, you have answered many of your questions, and you think you have a good idea of what you'd like to write about.

In the space below, write down the Subject and Direction that will make up your Thesis Statement. Remember the S+D+3R method!

Subject:

Direction:

3 Reasons: (optional)

Reason 1

Reason 2

Reason 3

My Thesis Statement Is...

My Examples to Back it Up (Specific Examples)

Reflect on the following ideas as you research and write about your topic.

1. What is an issue that is prominent or controversial in your career field?
2. What are the multiple viewpoints on this issue?
3. Present both sides of the argument.
4. Provide specific examples, data, and arguments to support your stance on the issue.